WHY IT DOESN'T PAY

To Buy AUCTION JEWELRY.

We quoted yesterday from the advertisements of jewelry auctioneers, telling how they get full prices for old goods. These are from the actual current advertisements of the most reputable jewelry auctioneers. Here are more quotations and food for thought for people who attend jewelry auctions:

FOOD FOR THOUGHT:

If the auctioneer says an article is worth $30.00, it may have been worth half that before it got old and shopworn, but if an inexperienced buyer gets it for $18.00, he thinks he is getting a bargain. This is the most common of all ways by which THE AUC-TIONEER SELLS OLD GOODS AT A GOOD PROFIT.

THEY DON'T LOSE MONEY:

Any honest auctioneer will admit that he is not selling silver dollars for forty cents, nor selling genuine diamonds and good watches for less than their value. However much it may be stated there is no "bybidding," you may be sure the auction IS PRO-TECTED AGAINST LOSS.

WHY AUCTIONS PAY: (Not the Buyer)

'It is a chance to get rid of any old stock to a good advantage. It is a chance also to make money for the jeweler, as a man who is qualified NEVER FAILS TO REALIZE NICE PROFITS."-(From a jewelry auctioneer's ad.)

HOW IT IS WORKED:

"Eighteen years' experience has taught me how to manage a sale, how to advertise, how to entertain an audience, how to use every imaginable effort TO SELL THE GOODS AND TO REALIZE LARGE PROFITS."

HE CETS BIC PROFITS:

"I challenge any auctioneer in the world to equal me in ABILITY TO MAKE LARGE PROFITS."

THE SAFE WAY

To buy genuine diamonds, fine watches, silverwares and bric-a-brac, fully guaranteed, is to buy from the unparalleled collection of the old-established house of Mermod & Jaccard's, Broadway and Locust. LOW-EST PRICES EVER MADE ON FINE GOODS."

BURGLARS LOOT FAUST RESIDENCE.

Systematic Stealing Has Been Going On for Almost a Year, Despite Police Surveillance.

DETECTIVES NOW AT WORK.

Missing Property Includes Silver, Jewelry, Tableware and Fine Linen, Much of Which Cannot Be Replaced.

Burglars have been looting the residence of Anthony E. Faust at No. 419 Elm street at intervals for almost a year. Several hundred dollars' worth of silverware, embroidcred table linen and household utensiis have been carried away, but there is not the slightest clew as to who the thieves are. On several occasions silverware from the restaurant at the southwest corner of the Southern Hotel has been missed, but none has ever been located. One of the servants was suspected, but a search of his house brought forth none of the missing articles. The first theft which was noticed was last December, when a hardsomely embroidered and hemotitched table scarf disappeared. Although the matter was reported to the family was at church.

Mrs. Frank Gionini, daughter of Mr. Frank and his housekeeper, would not attempt to estimate the value of the different articles. The mble linen she said she had worked with her own hands, and it was, therefore, all the more valuable to the mem-police, similar thefts have occurred at frequent intervals since. The largest "haul" was made last Sunday evening while the bers of the family, Detectives Harrington and Schmidt have been detailed on the case. For more than a week they have been searching the secondhand stores and pawnshops about the city in the hope of locating some of the stolen property, but without result. It is supposed that the thieves were expert at their work and carried their booty out of the city to dispose of it. Among the missing articles

One silver whisky flask, filigree work, with initials "P. G."; six souvenir spoons, one from Buda-Pesth, Hungary; one from Ham-burg, one from Berlin and one from Os-tend; pearl chain with white fan attached; three pearl-handled knives, one powder box, a dozen pieces of table linen consisting of center pieces, table runners and table-cloths; one silk umbrella, lace curtains, and smaller articles by the dozen.

NEW CITY HOSPITAL PLANS SOON READY.

Building Commissioner Says Actual Work Will Be Begun in a Few Weeks - Details.

Building Commissioner Longfellow said yesterday that it is now only a question of weeks when the construction of the new City Hospital building may be commenced. He has made such progress with the plans and drawings since August 25 that he has called Health Commissioner Starkloff, City Bacteriologist Ravold, Chief Dispensary Physician Jordan and other doctors into consultation for advice and criticism.

The ordinance provides for one octagonal ward three stories high, one isolation ward two stories high, five general wards, a kitchen and a laundry. Upon advice of Doctor H. L. Nietert, superintendent of the temporary City Hospital, an additional building, intended as a surgical-room, has been included in the plans, but the Municipal Assembly will have to pass an amendment to authorize its construction.

In order to locate this operating apartment so that it would adjoin the octagonal ward, the octagonal ward has been separated into two divisions, facing on Car roll street and extending from north to south, and the surgical-room has been inserted between, forming one building in the form of the letter H. The five general wards will be a distance back of the octagonal ward, fronting on Lafayette avenue. Mr. Longfellow has not decided how many stories high they will be, but Dec-tors Starkloff and Ravold seem inclined to avor two-story structures.

The administration building, the main entrance, the emergency reception-room and the dispensary will be on Fourteenth street, with the kitchen, laundry, powerhouse and laboratory back of them. Space for a large garden has been arranged for in the center of the pavilion, and a cov-ered corridor 15 feet wide, that may be alusted to all conditions of weather, will wind around from one building to the

The administration building will not bo rected this year, as the ordinance provides only for the octagonal ward, the isolation ward, the general wards, the kitchen and the laundry. The plans include the draw-ings for the other buildings, because the corridors must be constructed with the idea of future edifices in mind. Mr. Long-fellow proposes to have the stable built fellow proposes to have the stable built on some other adjacent lot on Fourteenth street, and to have the nurses' residence apart from the hospital, somewhere in the neighborhood. Lots eventually would have to be purchased for this purpose.

Mr. Longfellow has carefully considered, so far as a casual glance at the elevations would discover, all sanitary measures, and he seems to have given particular attention to provisions for generous quantities of ne seems to have given particular attention to provisions for generous quantities of fresh air and light. The wards and buildings, while they will be connected, will practically be separated so that the atmosphere of one building will not go to the next. He says that the plans seem to give general satisfaction. He seems disposed to think that it would not be prudent to utilize any of the material of the old hospital in the new structure, but is still considering that subject.

JEWELRY AUCTION SALES.

inside Facts Showing How the Wily Auctioneer Gets Good Prices.

The general public does not understand how jewelry auction gales are conducted. To begin with, auctions are not held for the purpose of losing money. The wily auctioneer always averages on good and poor stocks together at least the regular profits such goods sell for at retail.

This is accomplished in various ways. Take the jewelry business for instance. Few people are good judges of the value of diaif the goods are marked up to double and triple their value the average purchaser is tone the wiser, and if he purchases at half the price the auctioneer says they are worth he thinks he is getting a great bargain, whereas the seller has realized the full price for old-fashioned, shopworn goods which he could not have sold for half the money except by this means.

The buyer discovers too late that he has been fooled into paying for old-fashioned, shopworn goods more than he could have bought new, up-to-date wares for. The only safe way to buy such goods is to purchase from a thoroughly reliable house, like Mermod & Jaccard's, Broadway and Locust, who guarantee everything they sell and whose prices for new, guarantee goods are the very lowest. MERMOD & JACCARD, Broadway and Locust.
